

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

FARMERS who wonder if the world isn't slightly topsy-turvy, with the government paying them good money to plow up cotton this year, and offering more good money next year to rent idle acres, shouldn't forget that things sometimes look equally cock-eyed to the man in town. A member of President Roosevelt's "Brain Trust," Professor Tugwell, is going around the country telling business men that "advertising is economic waste, persuading people to buy what they do not need."

Education Week Is to Emphasize Need of School Revenue

Its Average Cost Is Only 2 Per Cent of Nation's Income

25c A CHILD DAILY

Programs Throughout State Will Get Under Way Monday

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—Dr. Howard A. Dawson, president of the Arkansas Education association, has announced the topics to be used as a basis for discussions during Education Week, which begins Monday and ends Sunday, November 12.

Clergymen over the state have agreed to stress the importance of free and universal education to an American ideal, and the topics suggested by Dr. Dawson were placed in the hands of educators and clergymen late this week.

The suggested topics follow:

For Monday, Nov. 6—"The Increased Responsibility of the Schools." Normally, it takes about 2 per cent of the nation's net income. In Arkansas at the peak of prosperity public school training was costing only about 25 cents per day for keeping a child in school. Increased school attendance and decreased school revenue as a result of the depression has resulted in financial destitution for a large part of the schools of the state. Our citizens need to be brought to realize that income diverted to education through taxation does not decrease in any way the total income to be used for the benefit of our people.

For Tuesday, Nov. 7—"Financial Support of Schools."

Education is relatively inexpensive. Normally it takes about 2 per cent of the nation's net income. In Arkansas at the peak of prosperity public school training was costing only about 25 cents per day for keeping a child in school. Increased school attendance and decreased school revenue as a result of the depression has resulted in financial destitution for a large part of the schools of the state. Our citizens need to be brought to realize that income diverted to education through taxation does not decrease in any way the total income to be used for the benefit of our people.

For Wednesday, Nov. 8—"What the Citizens May Do to Protect Their Schools."

"Citizens need to support a program which requires the state to furnish financial support necessary for a foundation program of education available to all children. The need to demand high standards for teachers who are admitted to the profession."

Thursday, Nov. 9—"Home and School Co-operation."

"The common interest in the welfare of the children brings the home and the schools closer together in such crises as the present. Schools and parents should co-operate in a program for the welfare of the children. School facilities should be used for distribution of food and clothes for the children. Libraries should be made available and wholesome recreation and amusements in which the parents will take an interest, should be provided for every community."

Recovery Value

Friday, Nov. 10—"The School and Reconstruction."

"The schools are one of the chief agencies for conserving our human resources for effectiveness necessary upon our return to normal conditions. Schools contribute to economic security and make possible high standards of living and increase the skill and knowledge necessary to help people attain better living conditions and higher ideals. Economic recovery can never take place among a neglected childhood."

For Saturday, Nov. 11—"The Schools and Loyalty to the Nation."

"Popular government depends for its continuance upon the faith and loyalty of its citizens. American schools have inspired a great faith in the stability and justice of democracy, and loyalty to our government. They teach respect to the constituted authorities, and the necessity for obedience to law, honor of the flag, admiration for our great national heroes and a love for American ideals, and they are a large unifying force in American life. Education is the insurance policy of democracy."

Sunday, Nov. 12—"Safeguarding Character Essentials."

"Sound character is the nation's most valuable asset. It is based upon high ideals and wholesome habits. Ample opportunity should be afforded to all children to acquire right ideals, habits and attitudes. The church, the home and the school, therefore need to work

Cotton Freight Rate Probe Begun

I. C. C. to Conduct Hearings; Hope Is Given New Rates

Hearings to Open Jan. 8 at Houston—Close at Memphis

COMPTITION HERE

This City Given Access to Texas Ports as Well as New Orleans

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission Thursday ordered a general investigation of freight rates on cotton between points in the Southwest and from the Southwest by rail or by rail and water to points in New England, trunk line territory, and the South generally, but not including traffic from points on the Mississippi river.

Five hearings were ordered, starting January 8 at Houston, and ending February 2 at Memphis.

Thursday's dispatch indicating a sweeping investigation of cotton freight rates arrived at the same time as a letter from the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, advising Hope shippers of an important victory in the fight to obtain competitive rates for this territory.

The letter, dated October 30, was in reply to telegrams from this city opposing the suspension of reduced rates on carloads from southwestern origins to Louisiana and Texas ports.

The I. C. C. announced that it had refused to suspend the rates, which accordingly became effective October 28.

Cotton men report that this benefits Hope, which formerly had a freight rate based on New Orleans, but now enjoys competitive rates to Lake Charles, La., Houston and Galveston, Texas, and other Gulf ports.

Attention also was called Thursday to the fact that a bulletin in Wednesday's Star reporting a 30 per cent rate reduction in Arkansas and from Arkansas to Memphis and Missouri, affects freight moving only within a 200-mile limit. Hope being more than 200 miles from Memphis, there is no change in Hope-Memphis rates.

Nepotism Charge Leads to a Fight

Oklahoma Representative Knocks Down Taxpayers League Secretary

NORMAN, Okla.—(P)—Representative F. B. Swank, Democrat, Oklahoma, knocked down a political opponent, Ron P. Fleming, secretary of the Cleveland County Taxpayers' League, here Wednesday and then walked to the police station and reported the incident.

"If you want me, I'll be at home," he said.

Fleming's face was cut and bruised from contact with the sidewalk. He said Swank walked up to him and asked: "Are you circulating the report that my wife and son are on the federal payroll?"

"Yes," Fleming said, "It's a matter of common knowledge."

Then, Fleming said, Swank hit him behind the ear.

"I just wanted to talk it over with him," Swank commented. "He got mad and started to cuss me out and I hit him."

"No, my wife and son are not on the federal payroll," he added. "Neither of them is."

Two Daughters of Governor Injured

Father of His Secretary Gravely Hurt in Auto Accident

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark.—W. H. McCall, aged 73, of Blytheville, was injured seriously, and Mrs. H. Grady McCall, 36, and Mrs. C. E. Moore, 22, both of Little Rock and daughters of Governor F. B. McCall, suffered minor injuries when their automobile overturned into a ditch three miles north of Marion, Crittenden county late Wednesday.

Mr. McCall, who is the father of H. Grady McCall, private secretary to Governor F. B. McCall, suffered a broken collarbone and injuries to the back. Physicians at the Blytheville hospital, where the injured were brought at 7:30 Wednesday night, said that his condition was serious.

Repeal to Be Voted by U. S. Next Tuesday

Six States Balloting November 7, With Only Three Needed to Give Necessary 36

WASHINGTON—(P)—By next Tuesday midnight the nation should know whether the 18th amendment is to be deleted from the constitution.

Ballots in six states will tell the tale, although actual ratification of the result in state conventions cannot come before December 5.

Kentucky Tuesday postpones the tabulation of ballots for one day, but the returns from Pennsylvania, Utah, Ohio and North and South Carolina should show the outcome.

Thirty-three states have joined the wet parade, with 36 necessary for repeal.

Waldo Is Bringing Strong Team Here

Columbia Countians Appear Evenly Matched With Locals

Hope's Bobcat football team hopes to chalk up its sixth win of the season here Friday night against Waldo High School.

The locals have been taking it "easy" in practice sessions this week, limbering up sore and bruised muscles received in two hard games last week.

No practice was held Monday, Coach Jones declaring a holiday to give his men much-needed rest. The balance of the week has been given over to signal drills, passing and punting and other fundamentals.

The squad is in good shape with the exception of Drake and Houston, tackles. Each have minor injuries. Brown and Madison, hurt in the Texarkana battle Saturday, will be ready to go against Waldo, Coach Jones said at noon Thursday.

What at first seemed to be a walk-away for the locals, now appears to be something else. Waldo has an impressive record.

In a game several weeks ago Waldo defeated Lewisville, 33 to 0, as compared to a 37 to 0 defeat hand Lewinville by the Bobcats. Last week Waldo routed Smelterover High School in a top-sided game, 55 to 0.

No other information could be learned about the Waldo team except the squad is composed of several veteran players.

The game will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

School officials announced Thursday noon that student tickets would not be available anywhere for sale except the school house. No student tickets will be sold after school closes Friday afternoon. All tickets at the football field will be for adults.

The change was brought about because former high school students were purchasing the lower-priced tickets instead of paying adult admission.

Ferguson's Paper Drawn Into Probe

The Forum Is Linked With Alleged Selling of Jobs

AUSTIN, Texas—(P)—Job selling charges were linked with the Ferguson Forum, edited by James E. Ferguson, husband of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, in testimony Wednesday as a legislative subcommittee resumed investigation of reports that employment in state institutions had been promised in exchange for cash.

Joe E. Simms of Whitney, Texas, exhibited a receipt issued in the name of the Forum which he said had been given him by R. H. Burck, also of Whitney. Burck recently was indicted for swindling in connection with the job selling investigation.

Burck testified he had distributed thousands of copies of the paper edited by Jim Ferguson during the campaign of Governor Ferguson for the office she now holds.

Simms said the check he gave Burck had been made payable to "Frank Denison," and that when it was cleared and canceled it bore the endorsement of "Frank Denison."

Frank L. Denison of Temple, Texas, personal friend of James E. Ferguson, was the governor's choice to be chairman of the state Highway Commission, but his nomination never was confirmed by the Texas Senate.

2 Negroes Jailed in Lion Oil Holdup

One of Prisoners Is Former Employee of Filling Station

Two negroes were held in jail here Thursday as officers continued probing the lion oil station robbery at Third and Elm streets. The two under arrest are Jack Noble and Curly Moore.

Most of the loot has been recovered, including a battery, tools, a pair of shoes and trousers. A small amount of currency is still missing.

The station was entered Saturday night by crashing a rear window. Noble, one of the negroes held, is a former employee of the oil depot.

Officers making the arrests were Homer Burke and Jim Bearden.

Paroled Convicts Seized for Fraud

Futrell Revokes Clemency of Men Who Sought to "Help" Fellow Convicts

LITTLE ROCK—Governor Futrell and penitentiary authorities Wednesday took steps to break up a "racket," through which furloughed and paroled convicts have obtained, or attempted to obtain, money from prisoners on the pretext that those on the outside could obtain clemency for prisoners who were able and willing to pay the proper fee.

Two former prisoners, Louis Dalsheimer and Charlie Miller, who were picked up Tuesday by Little Rock detectives on instruction from penitentiary officials, were returned to the penitentiary Wednesday by Superintendent A. G. Stedman, after Governor Futrell had revoked clemency orders on which they had been released.

Miller, former resident of Jefferson City, was convicted in Quenchita county and sentenced to 15 years on a charge of robbery. He was given an indefinite furlough May 3, 1933, after having served about two years.

Miller's home is in Pine Bluff. During the past six years he has been charged by officers with numerous crimes, some of them major offenses.

At one time, after he had been released to Pine Bluff and charged with a series of diamond robberies in which a negro and a white man pleaded guilty and were sentenced, Constable J. L. McBurnett declared that he believed Miller was "one of the most desperate criminals I ever had dealings with."

Dalsheimer was convicted in 1931 in Craighead county on a charge of false pretense and was sentenced to three years. He was paroled by the old State Parole Board about a year ago.

Beg Pardon

Regarding last Friday's humorous story of the alleged kidnapping of "Tootsie" Cargile so that he might play in the Hope-Hot Springs football game after his mother was said to have locked him in a room at home, Mrs. Cargile informs The Star it reported the facts wrongly.

"My son went to Hot Springs with my full permission, as I am positively sure he would not have gone without it. Of course he was never really locked in his room—and so there never was any kidnapping."

Head of Nationalist Party Pressed to Accept the Presidency

HAVANA—(P)—A bomb exploded at police headquarters Wednesday wounding nine persons, three of them probably fatally.

Two policemen and a civilian radio expert, engaged in installing a new police radio circuit, were reported dying. Four officers were reported injured seriously.

Jose Carmona, one of two policemen less seriously hurt, said the bomb was found on the Agua Dulce bridge. He said police Chief Franco ordered it taken to Camp Columbia but it exploded while being placed in an automobile.

Meantime, leaders of almost all factions continued to urge Col. Carlos Mendieta to assume the office of president, and Suber's political stage was set for a new cast of characters.

Colonel Mendieta, leader of the powerful Nationalists, still was undecided whether he should sacrifice his political future by becoming provisional president and reliable circles said he favored the return of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes.

President Grau San Martin told the press today that "the present government and constitution will be modified. The present judiciary commission will resign and a legislative assembly will be created."

Missing Man in Counterfeit Ring Taken by Officers

Joe Carter Vanderbilt Returned From Texarkana and Identified

2 PREVIOUSLY HELD

Ring Believed Composed of Vanderbilt, Wilson and Miller (Panco)

Joe Carter Vanderbilt, sought in connection with counterfeiting activities here, has been captured and identified as the man who attempted to pass a bogus bill at White & Co. store late Monday.

Vanderbilt was said to have been a companion of Leonard Wilson, the latter arrested Monday after passing two fake $10 bills.

As officers were taking Wilson in custody Vanderbilt escaped. He was arrested at Texarkana and returned here Wednesday and identified, Chief of Police Clarence Baker said. Vanderbilt gave his home as Texarkana.

Wilson, officers said, has been identified as one of two men who passed two $10 bills at Texarkana.

Vanderbilt, Wilson and Jack Miller, alias Andrew Panco, it is suspected by officers, were members of a fraud ring, operating in this vicinity, passing bogus bills and stolen money orders. Miller was arrested here several days ago for forgery and has been sentenced to the penitentiary.

Arraigned before acting U. S. Commissioner Louis Joseph at Texarkana, Wilson and Vanderbilt were ordered to have $5,000 bail each. They are held under $5,000 bail each, an expected to go to trial when federal court meets at Texarkana November 13.

Officers are continuing their investigation of Ben White, 45, arrested here this week after passing a forged $30 check at J. C. Penney store.

Chief of Police Clarence Baker has received letters from Hot Springs, Malvern, Russellville, Arkadelphia and Little Rock where White is alleged to have forged checks. In most of the instances he purchased baby clothing, saying his wife was an expectant mother, and insisted upon cashing a check.

White is being held in the county jail at Washington.

FINE BLUFF, Ark.—(P)—Fredrick L. Dilley, 71, founder of the Standard Brake Shoe company, died at his home here Thursday.

FORT SMITH, Ark.—(P)—Arthur Lee Ferguson, 59, local business man and former owner of the Ferguson Lumber company which liquidated several years ago, was found shot to death in his home here late Wednesday night, with a pistol by his side. Coroner Hugh Johnson returned a verdict of suicide.

WASHINGTON—(P)—The senate stock market investigating committee Thursday summoned Harry F. Sinclair, oil operator, and Arthur Cutten, Chicago trader, to testify regarding their participation in a syndicate formed in 1928 to deal in $1,300,000 of Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation stock.

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Roosevelt administration Thursday dangled before the world an offer to buy all foreign gold shipped to this country, and again advanced the figure at which the Reconstruction corporation purchases newly-mined domestic gold to $32.36 an ounce, 10 cents higher than on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the bullion quotation at London, presumably in response to Roosevelt's plans, rose from $31.52 to $32.11.

The dollar was weak, declining overnight to $4.82 on the British pound. This compares with $3.20 more than a year ago, when the pound sharply depreciated as England went off the gold standard. The present quotation of $4.82 is nearly par for British-American exchange—$4.87.

El Dorado Engineer Announces Resignation as of December 1

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—The State Corporation Commission announced Thursday it had been informed by George L. Hess that he would terminate his service as an engineer member of the Utility Fact-Finding Tribunal on December 1.

His formal resignation has not yet been received, and the corporation commission said no reason was officially given.

Hess' engineering duties will be taken over by Dean W. N. Gleason of the University of Arkansas College of Engineering, who will become temporary consultative member of the tribunal.

Before becoming a member of the tribunal Hess was a petroleum evaluation engineer at El Dorado.

Kentuckian Says Foes Kidnaped Him

Willis Staton, Released, Returns to Campaign for Circuit Judge

CORBIN, Ky.—(P)—Willis Staton, missing candidate for circuit judge, appeared at a Laurel county farmer's house Wednesday and said he had been kidnapped and threatened with death unless he withdrew from the race and ceased to aid in organization of a coal miners' union.

Reports that Staton had been kidnapped last Friday morning near Cave City had been under investigation by Pike county officers and by a Department of Justice agent following a report by his nephew, Joe Staton, that four masked men had seized him. The candidate said he had been knocked unconscious and chained in a cabin for several days before a woman prevailed upon his captors to release him.

Staton, about 55, was without a hat or tie when he reached here. His clothes were disheveled and his face was covered by nearly a week's growth of beard. He carried a bush to which he said he had been tied. He caught a bus for Fikeville Wednesday saying he was going to get back into this campaign and took the bus along to show it.

It was not definitely clear here Wednesday night, however, whether the New York Reserve bank may not eventually be authorized to sell the R. F. C. notes for cash, thus obtaining a fund with which it can operate directly in the foreign gold market. Asked whether this would be done, R. F. C. officials would only point to Jones' phrase saying the New York Reserve bank would "take in payment for the notes" gold imported at a premium above the world price.

The plan is not for the government or any reserve bank to buy gold directly in the foreign market. Jones' statement, which he refused to elucidate, was taken by experts to mean that the government will leave importation of gold to private initiative, buying the metal only after it has been brought here from abroad by private purchasers.

The R. F. C. however, will attempt to attract gold here, it was said, by continuing to set a price for gold at a premium above the world price.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Roosevelt and Hull Still "Hitch." Despite Episode of Moley... Staid Old Interior Department Jostled in Rush of Progress... No Shortage in Files.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON: There are no hard feelings between President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull over the Moley incident.

The president has taken pains to make clear his anxiety to have Hull here for the Russian recognition conferences with Maxim Litvinov, as well as at the opening of the Pan-American conference in Montevideo December 3.

There was some question whether steamer sailings would permit Hull to keep both dates. He probably can. Early reports indicated that Hull would not sit in with Roosevelt and Litvinov, and Washington gossips have imagined a coolness between the White House and Hull since the latter insisted on Moley's resignation as assistant secretary of state.

Ambassador Sumner Welles, until recently regarded as our ace diplomat in Latin America, will get to Montevideo if the Cuban situation straightens out in time. But his prestige has been somewhat tarnished by the upset of his plans for Cuba and his presence at the conference isn't considered as important as it was.

His friends in the State Department wish he had returned here soon after the overthrow of Machado.

Crowded Out in Rush
The sleepy old Interior Department—sections of it, anyway—is being crowded out of its nice big building by the expanding public works administration, which operates on night and day shifts because of room shortage.

The office of education received a five-day notice to move to a less attractive federal building, and it was followed out by the subsistence home-division, the oil administration, and the citizens' conservation corps.

PWA will employ about 1500 persons before it's through. More than 600 already work under the roof of the Interior Department.

Better Than No Job
The Buy Now campaigners of NRA found their chief problem was convincing white collar workers that higher prices were good for them.

The problem hasn't been solved completely, but NRA's official answer to the salaried worker whose salary hasn't been raised is that if the pro-voc trend of wages and prices had continued, bringing bankruptcy to labor, capital, and raw material producers, the white collar worker wouldn't have his present job.

No Shortage of Flies
There are about 30,000 species of flies and a new species is discovered almost every day, according to Dr. J. T. Greene, the Smithsonian Institution's expert on flies. Most of them are to be found among the 4,200,000 insects in the Smithsonian collection.

Fish are competitors with hogs, the Farm Recovery officials declared, summoning representatives of the seafood industry to a hearing on the porters, "so that all interested parties may be heard." Other competitors in popular taste, it was decreed, were sheep, cattle, poultry, eggs, and vegetable oils.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

The underweight girl should select her exercises with an eye to gaining weight in just the right spots.

Practically no one wants to gain pounds about the hips and certainly no girl wants to have even an extreme underweight chin.

The trick of exercises for too-thin people lies, of course, in concentrating on the spots of your body which are skinny instead of slender.

Massaging with a thick nourishing cream often helps to round out a scrawny neck. Cleanse your neck thoroughly and then put on the nourishing cream. Lift the skin on your neck upward and outward, beginning at the base of your throat and finishing at the chin. Never pull or stretch the skin. Merely lift it and mold it to your hand, move upward.

Just as thin arms are improved by a simple exercise: swimming, this is helped by another just as simple: walking. Try to walk at a snail's pace every day. That really will do wonders for your figure.

Here's the way to do an exercise.

YOUR CHILDREN

The World's Fair draws to a close. No longer will the million light set going by Arcetrius glow upon pink and purple towers and unbelievable blues. No longer will night rockets dye the heavens with rainbow balls that draw involuntary "Ohs" from the crowds.

The singing fountain and the musical "bird cages" will be silent. The world's greatest spectacle will be at an end.

Chicago talks about opening it next year. I hope it can be done and that the colorful buildings Urban did not live to see may be within the means of thousands of people who could not see it this time.

It takes time and perspective to prove the salient points of anything so colossal. What have we learned? What things have interested people most? What good has it done?

Probably there are as many opinions as there are people. Each person has his impressions in his own terms. The investor thinks in terms of bonds, profit or loss. The engineer accents the General Industries Building or the Hall of Science. The electrician, the Communication Hall, perhaps, and the economist, the Hall of States. The churchman remembers the Hall of Religion and especially the "Antioch Chalice," said to be the real Holy Grail.

The thrill hunter thinks back to the concessions, the incomparable "Wings of Progress." The good fellow to Old Heidelberg, the movie-minded, to Hollywood in the Making.

A true department store for everybody, and lucky was he who could spend a week of time on the grounds. As for me, I hurried straight to the Lagoon side to see the "Enchanted Island," built especially for children. There was nothing wanting. I am safe in saying it was the greatest playground ever conceived. A magic castle reached by a draw bridge over a real moat. Boats, ponies, miniature railways, and two dozen varieties of merry-go-rounds. Whatever else you may guess, be sure it was there. It covered acres and acres of ground.

Very well, I wanted to hear the children's own reaction to it all. We were there on a record day, but there were comparatively few children. It was before school opened, too. I had expected to see more young vacationists.

I was surprised. But the truth is that when money is tight mother and dad can sometimes squeeze in a little trip, but the children stay at home with auntie. It hasn't been so easy as you might think to get the reaction I wanted from children over the land.

Romance in Real Things
But a strange thing has happened. Asked what they liked best at the fair, almost to a man such children as I knew enthused about real things rather than play. The making of a car, the workings of a diamond mine, the way oil-wells are drilled, airplanes, manufacturing shirts and silk stockings, transparent skyscrapers with moving elevators carrying automobiles up and down again, the sky ride.

I really believe that our children are finding more romance in machines than we imagine boys particularly. Certainly a boy could almost pick up an education at the Fair.

If it opens in 1934 it is none too soon to think about planning and about taking the children if possible. What they see they remember and a world of magic that eclipses fairy tales and geni awaits them there.

Cleveland police spent four months looking for a dead man. If it takes the cops so long to find a dead man, how can we expect them to catch a live one?

Forgotten Sweetheart

By MARY RAYMOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOAN WARRING, pretty Memphis girl, and BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, met in Memphis and fell in love. They became engaged through the scheming of BARBARA COURTNEY, who is trying to win Bob for herself.

JOAN goes to New York in search for her sister, who has run away after an unhappy love affair. Joan is hired as a masked singer at a night club. Believing Bob is lost to her, Joan becomes engaged to BARNEY BLAKE, owner of the night club.

Pat recognizes her voice. Because of her agitation, Joan leaves before her first encore. Bob follows in his car. He goes to the night club and asks Barney for Joan's address. Barney refuses to give it to him. Angered, Bob leaves. He returns to plead his cause again and learns Barney has gone home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI
BOB opened the telephone directory and ran his eye through the list of Blakes. There it was—"Barney B. Blake." No, it wasn't "Mrs. Barney B. Blake." Queer! From what Barbara had said he had supposed Blake was a bachelor.

Well, it was no matter. The address must be right because it was the only "Barney Blake" in the directory.

It was a rather grim-looking young man who piloted the gray roadster through traffic to the Park Avenue address. Bob was driving as rapidly as possible, at the same time remembering that untidy arguments with traffic officers would only retard his progress.

He was elated, almost gay when he halted before the apartment building. A few moments more and he would be on his way to Joan! A few moments more!

In the lobby a sleepy clerk gave him the number. Bob decided he would not risk ringing and perhaps hearing a polite refusal. He caught the elevator to the fifth floor.

He was gone then, running down the stairs. Joan stood where he had left her, amazed, bewildered. What had Bob meant? He had discovered that she was the masked singer. Perhaps he had heard that Barney was in love with her. Maybe their marriage plans had leaked out.

Their marriage plans! Still shaken by the memory of Bob's kisses only one thought remained clear to her. She could not marry Barney now that she knew Bob loved her. Bob had been swept by some terrible emotion. Jealousy or rage. Nevertheless he loved her.

That thought was singing through her agitation, a winged shaft of light through the dark unhappiness that had enveloped her for so long. She must tell Barney in the morning. No, she must tell him tonight. She had been planning to cheat Barney and herself. Now, whatever came—even if she never saw Bob again—she could not marry Barney.

She called the number and after a long moment heard his voice: "Yes, Joan, what is it? Are you ill?"

"Barney, something's happened. Can you come?"

She heard the click of the telephone which meant she knew that Barney would be on his way. Dear, dependable Barney! He was like the rock of Gibraltar, a bulwark of strength. Like a hand always waiting to help her.

In the mirror above the console table she saw a shuffling-eyed creature. A flame had leaped up in her heart, transforming the passive sub-eyed girl of an hour before into a creature of glowing radiance.

Barney was at the door then. It seemed such a short time since her call that he must have dropped out of the sky. Barney, disheveled and bareheaded. "My God, Joan, what is it? Has anything happened to Pat?"

"Pat?" Joan repeated, weakly. "Why no, Barney?"

And then, as Barney sank weakly in a chair hiding his face with his hands, light flooded Joan's mind. "Oh, Barney, dear! Why didn't you tell me?"

He looked up, smiling a little in embarrassment. There was relief in his eyes. "Lord, but you gave me a turn! I thought that Pat—"

"You and Pat in love—and not telling me!" Joan murmured. She sat down beside him. "Oh, Barney, what you must have been through! And Pat too!" Her words were broken off suddenly at the memory of Pat sobbing in the night. Pat's wan face as she went doggedly, bravely through trying days. "Joan, what's happened?" Barney asked. "You mean you really don't mind about us?"

Joan told him then about Bob. Barney groaned. "I get dumber every day!" he said. "Weston came to me for your address to-night and I wouldn't give it to him. You see, Joan, I thought he was just a rich rounder looking for another thrill."

That explained it all. Bob for some reason must have interpreted Barney's refusal to mean that he was in love with her.

"I'll call him tomorrow and explain," Barney promised. "No, hell, come back. He was just excited," Joan said. "Loving each other as they did, what could possibly keep them apart? Now that she and Bob both knew what was in each other's heart."

"Are you sure?"

"Sure," Joan said and meaning it. She had never been so happy. "You and Pat—?" She went back to the subject engrossing him. "I can't see why you didn't tell me. Didn't you know you were cheating?" And then Joan had the grace to blush.

Barney said, "We were a pair of saps, I guess."

THE door opened and Pat, enveloped in a bright lounging robe, stood regarding them. "What," she began, "could you all be talking about at this hour?"

"About heaven," said Barney, tenderly opening his arms. Pat, without question and reading assurance in his happy eyes flew to him and was gathered into his arms.

Pine Bluff Meets Hot Springs Friday

Both Lost to Fordyce Which Plays El Dorado Armistice Day

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Out of the Pine Bluff-Hot Springs battle at the Stadium in the Spa Friday night may come the challenger to the high school title race leader, should the Fordyce Redbuds falter.

Both having tasted defeat—both the hands of the Redbuds—either could rehabilitate its championship hopes, a victory, for the two will have disposed of their toughest opposition except the Little Rock Tigers.

Outside of the Tigers, who also were whipped by the Redbuds, neither the Trojans nor the Zebras will have met strenuous opposition the rest of the way.

So a setting resulting from the fight so far is expected to interest a large number of fans, and it easily is headline in high school circles the week.

The Redbuds are taking things easy this week-end, playing no opposition but getting out the kinks in preparation for their battle Armistice Day with El Dorado, which is laying plans to upset the Redbuds.

Little Rock goes to Texarkana Saturday. El Dorado plays Nashville, and Fort Smith entertains Joplin, Mo.

November Prayer

We like to watch the leaves that dance upon November trees;
We like to hear the way they laugh their answer to the breeze.
We like the golden rows they wear, of gold and scarlet mids—
We even like the way they fall, so crisp and unafraid.
They lend our soul a little prayer; they make us softly sad;
When Autumn comes into our life, let me be brave and gay.
God give me grace to laugh and dance, as to the branch we cling,
And let me wear a vivid dress—and dream of youth—and spring.”
—Margaret Sangster.

His First Girl

JOHNNY JONES around the corner
Has a girl... I'd like to know
Why he acts so stubborn
And insists it isn't so.
He says "Oh gee, and goah and darn,
You think you're making up a yarn.
I ask you, can't a guy
Talk to girls or anything
When they're passing by?"

HES turning somersaults, he boasts
Down any kind of hill;
He twists his face most any place
To let her see his skill.
He pulls her hair and throws snowballs,
And doesn't hear her when she calls;
She's wise... she stands the test.
She knows that it's the way he shows
He really likes her best!
